

Welcome to the Dragons Blood Alliance

First of all, welcome. As a member of Dragons Blood there are a few things that you should be aware of. The of Dragons Blood motto is ("Servire et tueri") translated to Protect and Serve. Here in Dragons Blood we encourage members to be proactive, to play daily if possible and to always have the backs of the other members of the group.

There are times of course where regular play is not possible, such as holidays, just let us know so we are aware and we will keep an eye on your castle and protect it whilst you are away.

Although we do not operate a strict leader/member policy within the alliance, we request that as a member you listen to the group leader (DodgyMaster / Dragon Commander) and other senior members especially when relating to Alliance wide matters such as wars and treaties with other alliance groups. Dragons Blood is all about helping each other and having fun, we do not have a hard set of rules we just want you to enjoy your time with us and with the game.

Now when I said there are no hard rules, that doesn't mean there aren't any expectations that we have for our members. The list below outlines what we as a collective expect of our fellow members.

1. Please pay attention to what your group leader says, we are a team and should act in unison.
2. Be nice to other members of Dragons Blood and they will be nice to you.
3. It's fine having a laugh with other players, however abuse and bullying will not be tolerated.
4. Don't be afraid to ask questions, we will help you the best we can. (We're nice like that)
5. Make the effort to build your castle / level as quickly as possible.
6. Move your castle to the cluster of other members of the Alliance at the earliest opportunity so we can all protect each other.
7. At times we will be at war with some groups and friendly with others. We expect members to follow our lead and not attack unsanctioned targets.
8. When in a war with another group, listen to those that have been here a while and can guide you to the best strategies in battle. Remember it's not just you, the whole group is impacted by your decisions.
9. If a battle is underway and you have the ability to join the fight, do so if asked even if you will lose your troops. Even when we lose a battle we get Honour Points and Experience Points and we also benefit by reducing the size of the attacking forces. The next battle can finish them off.
10. Don't take it too seriously, be respectful and helpful to others and most importantly "Have Fun".

Once again welcome to Dragons Blood.

DodgyMaster (Dragons Blood – Alliance Leader)
